

Summer school in Provence:

« Photogrammetry for Archeologists and Architects »

26/08/2013 – 30/08/2013

This training session organized by the National School of Geographic Sciences* (ENSG) at IGN-France's fieldwork training center at Forcalquier in Provence (southern France) from August 26-30, 2013, aims to show professional Archeologists and Architects how to use state-of-the-art close-range photogrammetric tools. There will be theoretical courses, practical exercises in the field and data processing simulations on free software in the office.

Some quick information:

- Duration: 5 days
- Fees: 600 euros
- Full-board accommodation: 60 euros/day
- Working language : French

For further details, see complete program at <http://www.ensg.eu/Ecole-d-ete>

*IGN-France's School of Geomatics (Ecole nationale des sciences géographiques)